

MUSIC & PERFORMANCE

April 3-5

Love is Murder

The Queen of Romance Fiction opens her home to a television program. Unfortunately, someone has left a dead man in the closet and a serial killer known as the Rose Killer is bumping off romance novelists. Reservations required. $15 dinner/show. 7:30 p.m. John Doe Community Theater, 701 Main Street, Van Buren, Ark. 479-784-8288

April 5

Distinguished Artists Series: Arkansas Symphony Quartets

The University of Arkansas-Fort Smith's Distinguished Artists Series features classical masterpieces presented by artists of national distinction. Members of the Sturgis and Rockefeller Quartets of the Arkansas Symphony Orchestra are joined by pianist Rosilee Walker. Admission $10. 7:30 p.m. UAFS Breedlove Auditorium, 801 North 49th Street, Fort Smith. 479-788-7300 www.uafortsmith.edu

April 10-19

All My Sons

Arthur Miller had his first real Broadway success in 1947 with "All My Sons." Two partners making airplane parts for the military are prosecuted for selling faulty parts that result in the death of soldiers. One goes to prison but the other man makes a fortune, convincing himself that he did it for his family. A classic tale of greed, power and self-justification. Duff Taylor directs. Performances at 8 p.m. April 10-12; 2:30 p.m. April 13; 8 p.m. April 16-19. $10 general admission. Gala Opening Night admission is $20. Fort Smith Little Theatre, 401 North 6th Street, Fort Smith. 479-783-2966 www.fslt.org

April 18-19

UAFS Choral Department Production

The University Chorale and Women's Chorus present their final concert under the direction of Dr. Rager H. Moore II, director of choral activities. A small orchestra of local professionals performs with the singers in "Te Deum" by Franz Joseph Haydn, "The Wedding Cantata" by Daniel Pinkham and two Vivaldi pieces by the women of both choirs. Concert features student soloists on horn and violin as well as UA-Fort Smith's vocal jazz group, the Jazz Catz, directed by Don Bailey. Admission by Season of Entertainment 27 season ticket or $6. 7:30 p.m. University of Arkansas-Fort Smith, Breedlove Auditorium, 801 North 49th Street, Fort Smith, Ark. 479-788-7300 www.uafortsmith.edu

April 29

International Festival

Get a taste of other nations at this multicultural event. The Japanese Tiko, a drum team from Bunkyo University in Tokyo, perform Japanese traditional tunes with taiko drums originating in the 8th century. Other entertainment includes a Dragon Dance, Blaz Palafax and the Mexican Country Band, a German band and Irish music and dance, as well as music headed up by Don Bailey, director of UA-Fort Smith's Jazz Band. Exhibitions from 13 countries, including cultural items and snacks. $8 adults; $5 students (kindergarten-college); children under 6 free. 6-8 p.m. University of Arkansas-Fort Smith, Smith-Pendergraft Campus Center, 900 North 49th Street, Fort Smith 479-788-7300